Making Predictions

A prediction is a guess about what will happen next in the story. You can use pictures or text clues to help you make your predictions.

Here are some ways to start your predictions:

- I predict that...
- I think _____ will happen because....
- When I read _____, it makes me think _____ will happen.
- I bet the character will...
- I wonder if _____ will happen next.

When can I make a prediction?

Before Reading	Look at the title and the pictures to help you make predictions.
During Reading	Stop every few pages to make a prediction about what will happen next.
After Reading	Think: Did I make accurate predictions? What clues helped me predict what would happen next?

MAKING PREDICTIONS

SNOW DAY

It was the middle of winter and all week the children had been hoping and praying that the snow would fall. They wanted to go skiing and have snow balls fights in the yard. Every day they would go to school. Their teacher would be talking and the children in class would be staring out the window looking at the clouds in the sky. One morning they woke up and it was colder than it had been all week. They looked out their bedroom windows and wide smiles stretched across their faces...

MAKING FRIENDS WITH SHARKS

Shaun the shark loved swimming the ocean. But Shaun was a very lonely shark. None of the other animals in the ocean noticed that Shaun was kind and friendly and playful. They only saw Shaun as a big scary shark with sharp teeth. Shaun really wanted to make a friend so he went up to Fred the fish and said, "Would you like to play with me?" But Fred the fish zoomed away. Shaun went up to Sally the sea horse and said, "Would you like to play with me?" But Sally the sea horse swam away. So Shaun kept swimming by himself, alone and miserable. Olly the octopus saw how sad and lonely Shaun was. He went up to Shaun...
